

NEW HIGH SCHOOL IS DEDICATED BY MARYLAND SPEAKERS

Three Counties Ask State for Low-Priced Roads Through Districts.

HYATTSVILLE, Md., June 28.—The new high school at Hyattsville was dedicated yesterday afternoon with appropriate exercises. Benning speeches were made by State Senator Blair Lee, of Montgomery county, Hon. Thomas Larran, member of Congress from this district, Hon. J. Enos Ray, former speaker of the Maryland house of delegates; Jackson F. Ralston, Dr. Augustus Stabler, and B. B. Hare. The summer session of the school was opened on June 17, being inspected at the time by the assistant State superintendent of schools.

The board of liquor license commissioners of this county has refused the application for license of Charles Lusk, of Oxon Hill district, and Mrs. M. F. Von Osterman, on the Washington and Marlboro pike, in Spalding district.

Want Low Priced Roads.

Chairman Waller, of the State roads commission, has recently finished a tour of Prince George's, Charles, and St. Mary counties, and says he has found that the residents of these counties want low-priced roads.

They desire, he states, allotments from the new road loan to secure for them as much mileage as possible rather than short stretches of high price macadam.

Henry C. Shirley is now chief engineer of the State roads commission, succeeding Major Walter W. Crosby, who is now consulting engineer.

School Trustees.

Further additional appointments of trustees to serve for one year have been made by the county school board. For Laurel district—School 1, John W. O'Brien, Theo. Sakers, Robert H. Hyattsville Notes.

Emma L. Wheatley, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Winship Wheatley, of this place, died yesterday afternoon, aged four months. The funeral services were held this morning at 10 o'clock, interment being at Mt. Olivet cemetery, Washington.

Miss Mary Carroll is the guest of the Misses Corrine and Helen McFarland, Wine avenue.

Walter McCormick, Baltimore street, has accepted a position on a New York newspaper, and left last night for that city to assume his new duties.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson F. Ralston will leave the latter part of next week for a two months' tour of Italy and other points on the Continent.

CAPITAL WOMEN MARCH IN THE RAIN

Thousands of Convention Visitors In Baltimore See Brave Little Band Trudge Over the Cobblestones.

Washington women have long been famous for many things, but last night they added new fame to their renown by showing their sisters of the State that made beaten biscuit famous that they are more firm and dependable than the women of other cities.

For they had their own little suffrage parade in Baltimore. In spite of the nasty little drizzle that had threatened all afternoon, and that came down in earnest at 6:30 o'clock, they marched over the cobblestones of those Baltimore streets, and smiled as though they were really enjoying it. Yes, they really smiled, and if there is anything less conducive to make people smile than those hard, rough cobblestone streets of Baltimore I do not want to walk upon it. Even the taxis seem to moan and groan and sob as they writhe through those streets, as though they had corns on their tires. So it is easy to imagine what happened to those brave and determined Washington women, to the number of more than 100, who braved the drizzle, and the cobblestones, and marched by themselves down Charles street, to the Convention Hall, then over to the Union Station, according to schedule.

Thousands of people who would have been disappointed in not seeing the parade were treated to the sight of a gathering of modestly dressed, modest appearing, well-groomed women, carrying banners upon which were inscribed this legend, "Votes for Women." There wasn't a single tramp among them, not a single freak. They were all mild and placid looking, but there was that about them that seemed determined, too, and they were all keen boomers for their cause, very busy women, each one of them, and I think they opened the eyes of visitors to the convention, too, for all along the route of the parade such remarks as these were heard:

"Ladies, we're for you."

"There are an intelligent looking class, aren't they?"

If the parade of the Washington suffragettes had done nothing more than this, it would not have been held in vain, for whatever else it may have or may not have accomplished, it has shown several hundred thousand people from all parts of the country that the old-time suffragette has passed away, and her place has been taken by a younger, more modern woman, none the less determined to obtain her demands than her sister of the early '20's, but to obtain it by less violent methods.

The Washington contingent contained a large number of distinguished leaders in the suffrage movement, including Miss Folia Le Follette, Mrs. Robert Le Follette, Mrs. Harvey Wiley, Miss Hill, daughter of Congressman Ebenezer Hill of Connecticut, Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey, dean of the Washington College of Law, together with the women students of that college, Dr. Eleanor C. Folmar, of the Woman's Clinic, Miss Alice T. Jenkins, daughter of Admiral Jenkins, who was to have been the standard-bearer of the big parade, the same position she held in the New York suffrage parade; Miss Florence Ethridge, who carried the big banner inscribed "Votes for women," and the following members of the various equal rights organizations of the District of Columbia:

Mrs. Harriet M. Works, Miss Lilly Ross, Miss Ada Rhodes, Mrs. D. Cramer, Mrs. Mary Virginia Johnson, Mrs. B. Robertson, Miss Stella Armitage, Miss Sallie V. Bean, Miss Minnie Brown, Miss Elizabeth M. Barnes, Miss Emma R. Howell, Mrs. Cooke, Miss Beatrice Yoder, Miss Flora Swain, Miss Jane Bratt, Miss Eliza O. Denniston, Miss Margaret C. Lehr, Miss Bella Brice, Mrs. Mildred Shinn, Miss Alice M. Birdsall, Mrs. Edith K. Kern, Miss Emma Arnall, Mrs. O'Neale, Miss Nila Allen, Mrs. Margaret Worrell, Miss F. L. Reeves, and Mrs. M. L. Cooke.

Leaving on the 5 o'clock train were Mrs. Hendley, the Misses Heyler, Mrs. MacNaughton, Miss MacNaughton, Miss Bertram, Mrs. Ions, Miss Swenson, Mrs. Dorothy Johnson, Mrs. Margaret A. Rice, Mrs. Jennie L. Muller, Mrs. J. S. Hall, Miss Agnes Schneider, Miss Susan Ethel Smith, Miss Margaret Blaine, Miss Rebecca L. Blaine, Mrs. Josephine Arnold Rich, Miss E. M. Egert, Miss Emily A. Spillman, Miss Winifred Mallon, Miss Myrtle L. Bunn, Miss Blanche Brown, Miss Sara P. Grogan, Helen E. Jamison, Mrs. Ada G. Dickerson, Mrs. C. Hockmeyer, Miss Laura J. Graddick, Miss M. Katherine Reinbold, Anne E. Draper, Grace D. Hays, Miss A. L. Lashmitt, Mrs. Ivy K. Reed, Mrs. R. McK. Shelton, Miss Mary C. Cornell, Miss Sarah M. Gates, Miss Kiddoo, Miss Whitney, Miss Applibee, Mrs. Rich, Miss Etheridge, Mrs. Frank J. Ettinger, Miss Fannie M. King, Miss Annie M. Bra, Miss Katherine Sellers, Ida Daly, Elsie Hill, Mrs. Eva S. Evans, Miss Alla Hart, Miss Helen Tindale, Miss Fannie Hoffman, Mrs. Lullie R. Clarke, Mrs. A. B. Anderson, and Miss Hope K. Thompson.

Unless rain again interferes, the parade will take place as planned this evening at 7 o'clock, though the Washington women, having held their parade last evening, will not participate. However, a number of the more enthusiastic suffrage women are remaining in Baltimore to take part in tonight's monster equal rights demonstration.

But if there is any one in Washington who believes that the men who march in political parades are the only patriots, they are mistaken. The most peerless or near-peerless leader who ever led could not get five of his patriots to march in tight white pumps with one seven-eighths inch heels over the Baltimore cobblestones for an hour to save the country, but nearly 200 Washington women patriots did exactly this thing last evening, and did it with smiles on their pretty, vivacious Washington faces, too. JULIA MURDOCK.

FIFTH RESPITE FOR ARTHUR JOHNSON, CONDEMNED TO DIE

President Again Grants Reprieve to Murderer.

Notice of a fifth respite for Arthur Johnson, condemned murderer, sentenced to be hanged in the District jail tomorrow, was received from the President by Johnson's counsel today, and was recorded in the District Supreme Court. Attorneys for Johnson have appealed for a commutation of the death sentence imposed by Justice Wright on the ground that he should have given the advantage of a qualified verdict ruling made by Justices Anderson and Barnard, of the District Supreme Court. Although his case was carried to the United States Supreme Court, which decided that a jury in the District of Columbia had no right to qualify first degree murder verdicts, it is pointed out that two murderers escaped the gallows on the contention before the question was settled.

Johnson killed John Offenstien, a blacksmith, by striking him with an iron rod, in December, 1910. He was convicted in Criminal Court, No. 1. Ten jurors who convicted him have signed affidavits in the movement to obtain a commutation of sentence, and they have been filed with the Department of Justice, which is making an investigation at the request of the President.

Mikado Receives Eliot.

TOKYO, June 28.—President Emeritus Eliot, of Harvard University, today was received in imperial audience by the Mikado, and a luncheon in his honor was given in the palace.

IOWA LEADER WILL NOT SUPPORT TAFT

Chairman of Republican State Central Committee Quits Work.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 28.—"I will not be a member of any committee managing President Taft's campaign, neither will I personally support him." This was the declaration here today of C. F. Franke, chairman of the Iowa Republican State central committee. Mr. Franke took the position that the entire Republican State ticket should receive the support of Republicans, but that any Republican "knowing the exact condition of national affairs, and who stands for honesty in politics, is justified in not supporting Mr. Taft."

MEAT PRICES ARE UP 12 PER CENT

New York Market Shows Big Increase Since Last Year.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The price of meat has advanced in the last year until today, in the New York market, it is from 10 to 12 per cent higher than it was a year ago. A table showing the comparative prices follows:

	1911.	Today.
Veal cutlets	29	30
Veal chops	29	32
Round steak	22	26
Sirloin steak	24	28
Mutton chops	17	20
Leg of mutton	18	21

These prices rule in the retail shops over the city. No explanation is vouchsafed, but wholesale dealers are being blamed by shopkeepers.
